

It's just a paycheck!

Is there a unique public sector ethic?

Values matter

- Ethics and values define who we are and what we represent
 - □ ""I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character."
 - Martin Luther King, Jr.

How are public sector values different from the private sector?

Can or should public sector managers be more market-orientated?

- Fight wars and making profits?
- Policing, catching, and jailing bad guys for profit?
- Collecting child support on an incentive structure?
- Justice to the higher bidder?

How are public sector values different from those in the non-profit sector?

Are public sector managers operating in the gift economy?

- Marilyn Fischer and the concept of the gift economy
 - □ Gift v reciprocity
 - □ Self-interest v. compassion
- Are government services simply charity?

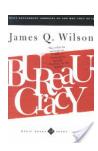

The public sector is unique

 Government work is neither based on selfinterest nor purely a form of charity

The public sector is unique

James Q. Wilson's Bureaucracy: What Government Agencies Do
 and Why They Do It

Public sector values are not the same as the private sector

- Private sector is about self-interest and profit maximization
- Private managers driven by goals and tasks and the bottom line
- Efficiency a primary goal

Public managers and employees face different values

- driven by constraints and the Top line
- It is not about selfinterest
- Equity over efficiency

Limits on what we can do

- It's about the constraints on our discretion and behavior
- Process is important
- Stakeholders are important

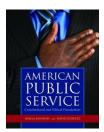

What values uniquely define the public sector?

- Legal
- Structural
- Process
- Normative
- Calling

Legal Values: A Constitutional Ethic

 Sheila Kennedy and David Schultz, American Public Service: Constitutional and Ethical Foundations

What are the constitutional values? Follow the

- Follow the Constitution and Bill of Rights
 - □ Neutrality
 - □ Transparency
 - □ Rules matter

Structural Values

- Substantive rights that must be respected
 - □ Freedom of speech
 - □ Freedom of religion

Process values

- Due Process
 - □ Cannot be arbitrary and capricious
- Equal Protection
 - ☐ Treating everyone the same

have to treat everyone the same—uding the protestor outside our door
PLEASE START OVER!

Government is expected to play fair

Normative Values

- The Concept of the Public Interest
 - ☐ It's not about us—it is about serving the public

The Concept of the Calling

- Max Weber's concept of the calling
 - □ We internalize a set of beliefs and values about serving the public and the performance of our duties

But what does it all mean in reality?

- Who do we serve?
- Why?

Treating people as citizens versus customers

 Citizens deserve to be treated better than customers

We have a higher standard of conduct

- The law imposes special rules on public service
 - □ Conflict of interest
 - □ Sunshine or Open Meeting Laws
 - ☐ Freedom of Information Laws

Perception is reality

You may say it only looks bad but to the public it is bad!

Bad mouthing my employer

Higher duty to obey the law

- Mandatory reporters
- Obeying the laws we are entrusted to enforce

Fiduciaries or trustees for the public
